

A vibrant, hand-drawn illustration of a European town street. The scene is filled with traditional architecture, including half-timbered houses with intricate wooden frames and tiled roofs. A prominent clock tower with a small dome stands in the center. The street is lined with buildings, some featuring balconies and flower boxes. A street sign with a yellow circle and a blue square is visible on the left. The overall style is whimsical and detailed, with a clear focus on the architectural elements of the town.
